BODY IN CREEK EATEN BY DOGS

Jury Collected in Cornfield Gives Remarkable "Unknown" Verdict.

The skeleton of an unidentified person was found in the bed of a creek, on the Alton-Jerseyville road, Monday evening, by Henry Heitzman. Heitzman at once notified Deputy Coroner W. H. Bauer of Alton. Bauer arrived at the place about midnight and impounded a jury in the middle of a cornfield, swearing them in during a misty rain.

The jury viewed the skeleton and the surroundings, and brought in a verdict of death "of an unknown person of unknown sex and color from causes unknown."

Mystery surrounds the case, and Coroner Bauer stated yesterday that all the theories advanced were purely speculative.

When the skeleton was found there were not four pounds of flesh on it. No clothing of any description could be found. Dogs had eaten nearly all the flesh from the bones, and had even chewed up part of four ribs. The impurities of their teeth were plainly evident on the bones. One hand, which was under the body, had not been eaten and part of the head was left. The teeth, however, were so discolored that the jury was unable to determine the color of the person. So far as the jury could determine, no marks of violence were on the skeleton.

By some of those who saw the skeleton the theory was advanced that the body was that of some bather who had drowned at some point above, and during the flood a few weeks ago, the body had floated down and lodged. As the water receded the body became exposed and the dogs found and devoured it. The fact that no clothing could be found gave weight to the theory that the body was that of a drowned person.

After the jury had returned the verdict Coroner Bauer buried the skeleton in a field near by.

HERRIN'S WOUNDS PROVE FATAL

Innocent Witness of Shooting Dies—Negro Not Found.

Moses Herrin, the Alton contractor and carpenter, who was the victim of an accidental shooting in front of the Temple Theater, Sunday night, died yesterday morning at 6 o'clock. The wound which caused Mr. Herrin's death was in the abdomen, the bullet having glanced from the sidewalk across the street and struck him. He was lying on the sidewalk between two men on the opposite side of the street.

Dr. J. J. Daley, the negro who shot at Herrin, has not been apprehended, although the officers of the surrounding towns and cities have been notified to be on the lookout for him.

Mr. Herrin is survived by his wife and three grown children.

To-morrow afternoon the funeral services will be held at the home of the slain, and members of the Carpenter's Union and of the Court of Honor, will attend the services.

Deputy Coroner William Bauer held an inquest over the remains last night, the jury returning a verdict that the death was caused by a bullet from a pistol, fired by an unknown person.

Alton lost one of her best-known architects and citizens, when A. S. Marland died Monday night, after a few days' illness. He was 52 years of age, and lived alone on a tract of land between Alton and North Alton, where he had resided for many years. He was a native of St. Louis. The body will be taken to Kirkwood, Mo., for interment. Mr. Marland had resided in Alton for many years, and his death was a great loss to the community.

MADISON HOUSE BURNS

Fire Threatens to Destroy Adjoining Buildings.

What threatened to destroy the houses in an entire block at Madison yesterday afternoon was a fire in one of the tenement-houses owned by Mrs. Daniel Maloney, on Sixth street, but it was put out after an hour's work on the part of the Madison Volunteer Firemen.

The houses were occupied until noon yesterday, when the tenants moved, leaving a fire in one of the stoves. The building was abandoned for some time before the fire department reached the scene and only a heroic effort saved the block and the original property on fire, but the surrounding houses.

The damage amounted to about $500, including furniture and other contents. The entire property is fully insured.

WORLD'S GREATEST POULTRY SHOW OPENS TO BIG CROWD

Twenty Barns in Live-Stock Exhibit at the Exposition Needed for the Exhibits.

The greatest poultry show ever attempted opened yesterday in the live-stock division of the World's Fair, where over 200,000 worth of fowls were on exhibition. Twenty barns were needed for the full display, and large crowds of fowls were on hand early. Some of the chickens are quoted at $5 an ounce, while other fowls are worth in the chicken world over $10.

Poultry Palaces B, C and D, in which are the incubators and appliances for hatching and raising chicks, are completed, and it is expected that the first chickens will appear to-morrow.

One of the interesting features of the show is the pigeon department. There are over fifty varieties of fancy pigeons exhibited, many of them rare breeds, seldom seen even at pigeon shows.

The homing pigeons occupy a prominent place in the exhibit and the birds shown are of many breeds. A number of the birds have records for long-distance flights, and it is expected that some of these strong fliers that have been tried in hard flights may be released for a trip to their homes in the East.

George H. Northrop of the Mettewee Poultry Farm, located at Racineville, near Granite City, N. Y., is exhibiting the Fair one pen and several single birds of the Rosecomb Black Minorca variety. For one of these birds he has received an offer of more than $500, and he considers the bird equal to one that he sold last March to a gentleman from Germany for $1,000. Aside from the sale of the single cock at $1,000, Mr. Northrop has exported during this year chickens or twenty birds, one cock at $500, one or two pullets at $200 each, and several pullets at $150 each.

Alleged Nasher Fined $50

John Jacob, who says that he is an architect, and that he lives at No. 2844 Lindell boulevard, was fined $50 yesterday morning by Judge Tracy of the East District Police Court, on a charge of firing. He denied all the charges against him, and a charge was provided by Mrs. J. J. Fatout.

MALADIES OF INDISCRETION

Most men suppose that the consequences of these affections are confined to the SINGLE or IMMORAL; but such is not the case. They often invade the MARRIED CIRCLE to an ALARMING extent; although, perhaps, the original disease might have been contracted in the forgotten past, but through neglect or bad treatment it has been lurking in the system for months and years, and will, sooner or later, break out into sores, bad legs, a dryness and soreness of the throat, pimples, and itching on the breast and head. There will be frequently a dry headache, with dimness of sight, great lowness of spirits, with aches and pains in the limbs, particularly in the legs and thighs. In many cases there will be a slight scalding of the water at times, with a twitching and twinging in the urinary passage, and very often some PAIN in the discharge of water. It seldom happens that two people are affected alike; but in each and every one suffering from disorders which have their origin in "maladies of indiscretion" some of the above mentioned symptoms will be found.

WILSON CHALLENGES ST. LOUIS

Offers to Bet Delaney's Men Cannot Beat His Eleven.

Jack Wilson, football coach of the C. B. C. eleven, issued a broad challenge to the St. Louis University team last night, in which he offered to back his own proteges against the St. Louis University for $200.

"I am willing to bet $200 of my own money that the St. Louis University cannot beat C. B. C. Our schedule is filled up with Thanksgiving. Next Saturday we play Lombard, then we have the Alumni, Carbondale, Rolla and Kirkwood. After that we can make arrangements to play the university, and I am willing to bet a chunk of my own money that they cannot beat us."

"This talk of St. Louis University having such a heavy and good team makes me weary. C. B. C. has always had to play against heavy teams, and on only one or two occasions has she lost. The college lads are aggressive and much better than the St. Louis men, and I look for these elements to beat Delaney's team should we succeed in getting that bunch on the gridiron against us."

Wilson sent his men through a forty-five minute workout during the afternoon. After the workout was completed the big yellow kicked satisfactorily, and brought back Brockmeyer out for a half hour's kicking practice. The C. B. C. captain was coached by "Jimmy" Rorion, and showed wonderful improvement in the kicking end of the game.

All hands expressed great satisfaction at the work of the college ends, January and Hood. Both are fast snappy boys, and their ability to take advantage of an opportunity is wonderful. They are certainly as good as any pair of ends seen on the campus for several years.

DRAWN GAMES IN LAST ROUND

Chess Tourney Championship to Be Decided To-day in Play-Off.

The ninth round of the National Chess tournament was played at the Missouri Athletic Club yesterday, but as yet no decision has been reached. Three matches resulted in draws, while one was forfeited and another adjourned.

The playing in this round was the best contested of any of the rounds. The first place was won by Marshall, regardless of the outcome of his last match, but his opponent, Mikowski, played his best game of the tournament and tied the champion.

Judd, the local man, tied with Jaffe, as did Uedemann with Ed Schrader. Kemeny and Schweitzer played into the night session, but did not come to a decision and adjourned.

Doctor Schrader forfeited his match to Eschenberg, being called to Moberly. The results of yesterday's matches make it necessary for the contestants to again play to-day. The draws will be played off, and the standing of the players will be determined from the result.

The fight for second and other places is very close, and several of the matches to-day may again result in draws. In which case the prize for the place will be divided.
